Harding Said Bonus Would Not Diminish Government's

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(A. P.) The soldiers bon's bill was velocd by President Harding in a message to congress today. The president declared he was in accord with the avowed purpose of the bill, but could not subscribe to its provisions. He said conridow of the American tin-plate king. gross had falled to provide revenue to meet the provisions of the bill. now the wife of Prince Constantine of Greece, may become queen of Greece Procedent Harding said the ultimate cost could not be estimated definitely, but the treasure figured the total at seven hundred fifty million during the in excess of four billion. Harding told congress that the proposed ser-vice certificates substituted for the original each payment would con-stitute forrowing 'on the nations credit just as truly as though the loans were made by direct government horrowins." He added that this havelvies "a dangerous above of public credit." The executive declared it essential "to remember that a more than four billion dollar pledge to able service men would not diminish any later Such is the proud heast of Harry obligation," which the veterans con-Morton, alias Maldoon, ages crook, tributed to the "rolls of the aged, innow in jail here.
